JCC Celebrity Night a 'hit'

Comedy and song are a combination sure to please, and pleasing it was, when Claire Barry and Dale Grand entertained at the JCC Celebrity Night, Dec. 6.

The audience roared their approval as Dale Grand, a multi-talented performer, who was born and raised in Yonkers, captivated them with his special brand of humor. His jokes poked fun at life, allowing us to laugh at ourselves.

Dale, the opening act, always aspired to be an entertainer. He studied dramatics at Emerson College in Boston, and is also known as a serious actor.

After a brief intermission, the house lights dimmed and from off stage came the familiar voice of Claire Barry. As she moved on stage, the spotlight focused on an artist who has been headlined throughout the world.
